This is tragic that you have backed a President that lied and misled the public on Dorian's path. You who are suppose to be a trusted independent agency of science. We the public who now because of the importance of the accuracy of forecasts due to climate change cannot believe your information. Are we to listen to the lies of the President first and then your misleading forecasts will follow? And the atrocity of being critical of your scientists when they speak the truth. We are surely in dire times! You owe the public and the scientists an apology for your obvious lies! Trump is a president that has lied daily and called the media fake as he is caught each time for his lack of reality. It is alarming that now NOAA follows and feeds a lie.
