FYI - here's the latest correspondence from GCID on the Shasta adjustments - should you be having any conversations today about it. Also, our 11 am call was very constructive and I followed up with one on one discussion with Jason Peltier, which was also very constructive. He shared that they have a call to get organized tomorrow morning and he said he will try to make sure that call is constructive. We are meeting with Reclamation tomorrow afternoon to respond to comments received and finalize language. Overall, I think it's still the right approach to wait until the end of the week to see where this lands.

Subject: RPA Adjustment Letter

Maria,

Thank you for the brief meeting yesterday on the proposed RPA amendment process. While we may not had the opportunity to fully understand and engage during the meeting, we did leave and process what the potential impacts could be from the PowerPoint proposal.

To be constructive, we have provided the attached letter identifying several concerns as well as a corresponding recommended action.

Thank you again,

Thad
